INTRODUCTION

▲ AQUARIUM - SEA PALACE
DONOSTIA/SAN SEBASTIÁN

Spain is an ideal country to visit with your family. Come and enjoy the magnificent climate and the natural and cultural wealth.

There's everything you're likely to need: a great selection of services, first-rate accommodation, a wide variety of leisure options... If you come, you can find out for yourself.

It doesn't matter how old you are, if you're looking to have a good time there's so much to choose from: theme parks, water parks, zoological gardens... Take an adventurous tour of medieval castles, learn about the windmills in La Mancha or follow in the footsteps left by the Roman Empire.

In almost every city and town you'll find gems in the form of museums large and small that are well worth a visit. Most have exhibitions and activities especially designed for children, so educational tours can also be fun.

Here it will be sunny and warm most of the year. Come to the beach and enjoy the sand and the sea. There are around 600 beaches flying the blue flag which means they provide all the services and facilities you need to spend a great day with your children.

All this and much more is waiting for you in Spain: a country that is safe and welcomes visitors with open arms. Come with us as we take a look at its main attractions, and let yourself be charmed by its hospitable and friendly people.

CULTURE AND ART

Visit a museum, walk around the walls of a castle or take part in a dramatised route in a World Heritage City. It'll be a unique adventure. Spain provides a world of experiences for children and grown-ups to have fun while they learn.

MUSEUMS FOR ALL THE FAMILY

In Spain there is a wide variety of museums with excellent collections. Many of them organise leisure activities with children in mind. Here are just a few of our recommendations.

THE ART WALK IN MADRID

There's nowhere else in the world with as many masterpieces in such a small area. We're talking about the Paseo del Arte or Art Walk. On this route there are several important art galleries: the Prado Museum, the Thyssen-Bornemisza Museum and the Reina Sofía National Art Centre. The three galleries are located just a few metres from each other and are connected by one of the city's main avenues: the Paseo del Prado.

In the Prado Museum you'll find the best paintings from the Spanish, Italian and Flemish schools from the 12th to the 18th centuries. It contains prestigious masterpieces like Las Meninas by Velázquez and the Garden of Earthly Delights by Hieronymus Bosch. The Thyssen-Bornemisza Museum houses one of the most valuable private collections in the world and includes works by Monet, Van Gogh and Kandinsky, amongst others. The Reina Sofía National Art Museum is more avant-garde and exhibits contemporary art together with iconic paintings like Guernica by Picasso.

Both the Prado Museum and the Reina Sofía National Art Centre organise agebased activities and workshops. They also arrange themed tours especially for families with children.

The Thyssen-Bornemisza Museum also organises Family Thyssen, an activity undertaken in English for making children familiar with the art world.

In the same area you can also visit the CaixaForum Madrid cultural centre. It organises shows, workshops and dynamic visits for adults and children to enjoy a shared experience with art, science, music and humanities.

The children will love the Sorolla Museum.

CITY OF ARTS AND SCIENCES
VALENCIA

MNCN (NATIONAL MUSEUM OF NATURAL SCIENCES), MADRID

If you'd like to see a giant squid, an African elephant or the skeleton of a diplodocus, then this is the place to visit. An ideal museum for families interested in everything to do with nature, fossils and scientific research.

There are numerous halls with exhibits from across all the continents, ranging from meteorites to curious inventions. The stars of the collection are the dinosaur skeletons. Children can also have fun here interacting with large mammals using augmented reality. The museum also organises workshops, special exhibitions and activities for children throughout the year.

CITY OF ARTS AND SCIENCES, VALENCIA

Can you imagine being able to marvel at the spectacular world of the sea and the incredible world of science all in a single visit? This is what you can do in this complex. The endless cultural activities include those organised by the Príncipe Felipe Science Museum which focuses especially on the younger visitors. Here they will be free to engage with the interactive features and learn at their own speed.

The children will love the Hemisfèric, a 3D cinema with an enormous concave screen, and the Oceanogràfic, the largest aquarium in Europe and home to hundreds of marine species. You should plan your visit carefully as there is so much to see. You can purchase separate admission for each centre or a general admission which will cost less.

AQUARIUM - PALACE OF THE SEA, DONOSTIA/SAN SEBASTIÁN

Opened on the quay in San Sebastián in 1928 and later completely refurbished, is the oldest aquarium in the country. Here you can learn about the naval and fishing history of the region as well as viewing a whale skeleton and the great collection of aquariums.

The most spectacular feature is a 360 degree tunnel suspended in the middle of a great oceanarium. Take your family to see over 5,000 species including two sand tiger sharks, a horned boxfish and several stingrays. You can also spend the night at the Aquarium and go to sleep surrounded by fish.

PIRACY MUSEUM IN TEGUISE, LANZAROTE

If you love stories about pirates then this museum in the Canary Islands is just the place for you. At the top of Mount Guanapay, next to the town of Tegui, you'll find the Castle of Santa Bárbara, an ancient fortress built to defend the island against continuous attacks from pirates.

From up there you'll have spectacular views of Lanzarote and you can learn a little about the history of piracy in the museum. There are caricatures of renowned pirates, models of ships and reproductions of period weapons on display in the different rooms. The children can explore the treasure in the hold of an old ship and feel like real pirates.

MUSAC, LEÓN

One of the main attractions of the Castile-León Museum of Contemporary Art is the facade which is made out of stained glass. In fact the building, which was designed by the architects Tuñón and Mansilla, is a work of art in itself.

In the interior you'll find some very interesting contemporary art works. Children will be able to develop their creative abilities by taking part in "Diverviajes", a different and surprising approach to exhibitions.

SCIENCE PARK IN GRANADA

Granada is renowned worldwide for the Alhambra, but there are other fascinating gems like the Science Park. This museum occupies over 70,000 square metres and organises one of the largest selections of cultural and scientific leisure activities in Europe.

It is divided into pavilions with the main exhibitions dealing with science, the human body and technology. The children will especially like playing in the Exploration hall and the openair tours around the park.

IMMERSIVE MUSEUMS

In several Spanish cities, you will find museums that invite you to enjoy original, immersive experiences and optical illusions, like the Museum of Illusions in Madrid, the Big Fun in Barcelona and the Illuziona Museum in Toledo.

ROUTE OF THE WINDMILLS IN LA MANCHA

Visit this area of Castile-La Mancha with your family and discover the scenario for the adventures of Don Quixote de La Mancha. This character from universal literature, created by Miguel de Cervantes, fought an impossible battle against windmills thinking they were giants. The perfect starting point for a journey through the countryside of La Mancha.

Become Don Quixote for a day and discover the windmills on a tour which also includes incredible medieval castles, palaces and stately homes.

While you're there you should visit the ethnographic museums in the region, where the children can interact and learn about ancient traditions. Relax and enjoy a truly fairy-tale landscape.

CASTLES ROUTE IN SPAIN

From north to south and east to west, including the islands, there isn't a single region in Spain that does not have one of these exceptional works of defensive architecture.

Fine examples are the castle of the Knights Templar in Ponferrada (León), in Gothic style, and the castle of Coca (Segovia), which preserves its towers, battlements and moat in excellent condition. Very near there, the Alcázar de Segovia, a fortress which looks like a fairy tale.

In the Madrid Region, the castle of Manzanares el Real has a beautiful interior arched patio. In Cuenca, the castle of Belmonte has been the location for a number of period films and organises international medieval jousting tournaments throughout the year, with activities for all the family.

And if you'd like to spend the night inside the walls, the castles of Cardona (Barcelona), Sigüenza (Guadalajara) and a part of the majestic palace-castle of Olite (Navarre), are just some which are part of the network of Parador Hotels. There could be no better way of feeling like a king, a princess or a knight than spending a night in one of these castles.

LEARN ABOUT ROMAN HISTORY

In Spain there are numerous traces of Hispania (the name given by the Romans to the Iberian Peninsular).

Travel back in time, to the era of emperors and great construction projects, and discover the legacy left by this civilisation in our country.

▲ ROMAN RUINS OF BAELO CLAUDIA
TARIFA, CÁDIZ

Visit the Roman amphitheatre, theatre and circus in ancient Tarraco and watch gladiator fights and historical performances at the TarracoViva Festival which takes place in May in Tarragona (Cataluña).

Have a great time on the family route A day with the Romans in Sagunto. The children will enjoy discovering gems like the Roman forum and theatre in this town in the Valencia Region which is the venue in the summer for the Sagunt a Escena festival with theatre, music and dance shows for the whole family.

There are numerous Roman monuments all over the city of Cartagena (Murcia), but there is no doubt that the highlight is the great Roman theatre. If you visit in September you'll be able to enjoy the incredible Festival of Carthaginians and Romans, where the whole city seems to return to the past.

Mérida (Badajoz) was another city which flourished during the Empire. In nearby Mérida, the International Festival of Classic Theatre is held every summer in the Roman Theatre.

The Baetic Roman Route passes through twelve Andalusian towns and cities in the provinces of Seville, Cádiz and Córdoba. It includes fascinating sites like Itálica, a Roman villa located in Santiponce (Seville) and the Torreparedones archaeological park in Baena (Cordoba).

The walls surrounding the cities of Ávila and Lugo, declared World Heritage Sites by the UNESCO, are further examples of the beauty of the Roman legacy.

WORLD HERITAGE CITIES

Spain's fifteen World Heritage Cities are a good alternative when it comes to planning a holiday with children. Learn about their history with entertaining explanations while travelling on a tourist train, discover incredible medieval castles and markets and enjoy the cultural festivals and outdoor activities... Here are a few suggestions.

Come and discover Alcalá de Henares, the birthplace of Miguel de Cervantes, the author of Don Quixote. If you're travelling from Madrid, take the Cervantes tourist train which leaves from Atocha station and operates from April to July and from September to December. Along the way, a company of actors perform some of the best-known episodes from the novel Don Quixote.

The city of Segovia is sure to surprise you. There you'll find the spectacular Roman aqueduct, one of the best preserved in Europe, and the Alcázar a unique medieval fortress standing on a rock and which looks like a castle in a fairy tale and is said to have been the inspiration for the Disney film of Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs. In May the Titirimundi-International Puppet Theatre Festival takes place in its streets and squares.

Stroll around the streets and discover the delights of medieval Cuenca. There you'll find the Casas Colgadas, or Hanging Houses, built in the 15th century with wooden balconies leaning out over the Huécar River.

Take your children to explore the facades of the monuments in Salamanca. Look for the frog in the facade of the University, the astronaut or the monkey eating an ice cream in the Ramos gateway in the new Cathedral.

The capital city of Galicia, Santiago de Compostela has a beautiful historical old town and incredible gardens like the Alameda Park.

The medieval city of Toledo is a perfect place to visit with children. Its size means you can stroll around the streets on foot. Children will feel they have travelled back in time, they'll love the amazing medieval suits of armour and they'll really like "Toledo marzipan".

Córdoba has a seductive, picturesque historical old town which houses a great treasure, the Great Mosque-Cathedral, one of the masterpieces of Moorish art. You should also visit the gardens of the Alcázar de los Reyes Cristianos and the royal stables where equestrian shows are held. You can surprise your children with the Children's City, the largest outdoor play park in the city, the municipal zoo and the botanical gardens. They are near to each other and you can buy a combined ticket for admission to all three.

If you're visiting Eivissa you really should walk around the walled city of Dalt Vila and get fantastic views of the Mediterranean from the incredible lookout points, and visit the Cap Blanc Aquarium which is to be found inside a natural cave.

▲ BARRIO DE LAS LETRAS DISTRICT
MADRID

DRAMATISED ROUTES

A really original way of learning the secrets of Spanish cities. Discover the Las Letras District in Madrid through the great writers from the Golden Age of Spanish literature: Lope de Vega, Calderón and Quevedo. Visit the castle of Manzanares el Real guided by two characters from the 17th century, or let an actor playing the part of Goya tell you all the secrets of Chinchón, a city in the province of Madrid. Guided tours in English can be booked for groups.

If you're going to Barcelona, the daytime tours through medieval Barcelona are an good option.

In Granada, a guide and two actors will take you through the centre of the city following in the footsteps of the celebrated poet Federico García Lorca.

Zaragoza, Salamanca, Cáceres and Seville also organise dramatised tours. Advance booking is required for all these attractions.

BEACH AND SUNSHINE DESTINATIONS

In Spain you'll find beaches for relaxing together with your family and enjoying the sea all year round. Take a dip in the crystal-clear waters of the Mediterranean coastline which goes from the border with France to the south of Spain passing the Balearic Islands on the way. You're guaranteed warm temperatures, and equal measures of fun and recreation and peace and quiet. The contrast comes when you reach the Atlantic coast. In the north in Galicia, the precipitous Costa da Morte awaits you together with the fishing traditions of the Rías Altas y Bajas estuaries. In the south, the provinces of Huelva and Cádiz have long, white sandy beaches and in the Canary Islands to the southwest of mainland Spain you'll find volcanic beaches, endless dunes and incredible seabeds. And finally, there's the Cantabrian coast which runs across the north of Spain and is synonymous with green countryside and little fishing villages.

PLAYA DE MASPALOMAS BEACH
GRAN CANARIA

More than 600 Spanish beaches fly the Blue Flag for quality. Whether it is because of their location, the services provided or their geographical characteristics, all the beaches we recommend are ideal for adults and children to get maximum enjoyment.

The beaches in Tarragona are noted for their fine, golden sand which has given the Costa Dorada (Catalonia) its name. The dels Penyals (Miami Playa), the Sant Jordi (L'Ametlla de Mar) and the Les Madrigueres (El Vendrell) beaches are three examples of what you'll find in this province: calm, clear waters, family friendly and maximum comfort.

In this province there are two key moments for having fun with children in the summer months. Mid-August is devoted to Sant Magi, with a parade in which water plays a leading role. The second fortnight in September is the time to celebrate Santa Tecla, with parades of "Gigantes y Cabezudos" (Giants and Big-Heads), concerts and castells, human towers which can reach up to 9 levels.

Without leaving the Region of Valencia, the capital city of Valencia is renowned for its beaches and exceptional climate. You really should take a dip at one of the beaches there. Las Arenas, La Malvarrosa and El Cabanyal are all very near the city centre. They all have numerous places serving traditional dishes like paella and “fideuá” (paella with noodles instead of rice).

Take them on a boat ride in the Albufera Nature Reserve, or enjoy the outdoors at the Gulliver and Snow White theme parks, full of jumping ramps and slides.

Málaga (Andalusia), the capital of the Costa del Sol, has created leisure centres like the Palmeral de las Sorpresas, with gardens, play areas and fountains where children can have a fantastic time.

The best town-centre beaches are La Malagueta, La Misericordia and San Andrés. They have all the services and facilities you need for a fantastic few days.

Don't forget to try the traditional skewered grilled sardines, the real summer flavour of Málaga.

The city has numerous cultural facilities. You not only have the Pompidou Centre and the Picasso Museum. You really shouldn't miss the Interactive Music Museum (MIMMA), where you are free to sit down and make music. You can also visit the Carmen Thyssen Museum, which has the most comprehensive exhibition of 19th century Andalusian painting in Spain, and the Principia-Science Centre, with large-scale interactive exhibitions.

This coastal area is ideal for spending a few days with your children. You'll find the waters at the Burriana (Nerja), Torreblanca (Fuengirola), Sabinillas (Manilva) and La Rada (Estepona) beaches nice and calm, so you'll always be able to take a carefree dip.

The Balearic Islands are where you can really experience the Mediterranean. You'll find coves with turquoise waters where pine trees reach almost down to the beach, an incredible natural environment and everything you can imagine for enjoying a peaceful holiday by the sea. Tour the islands by bicycle or on horseback, discover the incredible flora and fauna on the seabed or take a boat trip.

Mallorca, the largest of the Balearic Islands, has numerous beaches of the highest quality. Palmanova, the nearest to the centre of Palma, is a great option for all the family. Other great town-centre beaches are those in Alcudia and in Muro, in the north of the island.

Minorca is renowned for its calm water coves and picturesque villages to visit in the evenings. The beaches of La Vall are easy to access and safe for children, they'll just love the turtles that live there. Cala Galdana and Cala Porter, on the other hand, have beach bars, shops, boat hire and water sports facilities.

Ibiza has so much to offer for a family holiday. Enjoy peaceful beaches like Talamanca and Las Salinas, ideal if you're travelling with small children. Take a boat trip in the turquoise waters of Cala Tarida, or try a little adventurous snorkelling around Punta Galera, a nudist beach.

The Canary Islands are known as the 'fortunate islands' and it is easy to see why: incredible natural surroundings, great weather all year round and first-class facilities and services. The ideal destination for a family holiday.

Relax on peaceful, wide beaches with golden sands like Las Teresitas, in Santa Cruz de Tenerife, Las Canteras, in Gran Canaria, or Playa Papagayo, in Lanzarote. If you really want to surprise the children, take them to a beach with black, volcanic sand, like Playa Jardín in Tenerife. Or enjoy the incredible dunes of golden sand in Maspalomas, in Gran Canaria.

In the Canary Islands there's so much more than beaches and sunshine. The children will have a great time sailing on a yacht to get a close look at dolphins and whales. You can enjoy nature in all its splendour in the Anaga Rural Park (Tenerife), in Garajonay National Park (La Gomera) and in Timanfaya National Park (Lanzarote), where you can also ride a camel.

At night, the conditions on the island of La Palma make it one of the three best places in the world for watching the stars. Go up to the Roque de los Muchachos Observatory and learn all about the starry sky.

The route to the Punta de l'Escaleta is very easy and takes you along a road that is not open to traffic, it's even accessible to pushchairs. Starting in the cove of Tío Ximo you'll see the cliffs overlooking the Mediterranean. The route ends at a 16th century watchtower where you'll have splendid views of the mountains and the Mediterranean.

BOTANICAL ROUTE THROUGH THE IRUELAS VALLEY

Discover the incredible diversity of plant life in the Iruelas Valley, in Ávila along this route which is suitable for all ages. This 30-minute walk starts in the Siempre Verde recreational area and takes you through holly and chestnut trees, as well as other species growing in this protected area next to the Burguillo reservoir.

PEÑA DEL CHORRO WATERFALL

This waterfall which is the source of the Duratón River is located 100 kilometres from Madrid, near the town of Somosierra. It is the highest waterfall in the Madrid Region, a spectacular natural feature made accessible by a number of pathways around it. The easiest route starts at a nearby service station where you can take a path which ends at the Peña del Chorro.

ROUTE OF THE FACES

From the town of Buendía (Cuenca) there is a pretty route for adults and children which is quite easy and takes about 1 hour, taking you past some very surprising and mysterious works of art. You can reach the path from the town, it is well signposted, and it takes you through pine woods and olive groves as far as the reservoir. There you'll find around 20 sculptures of mystical characters carved into the rock which will surprise the children because they look very much like fantasy beings like Chemari the great gnome and Chaman, looking out over the reservoir. The sculptures were carved by Jorge Maldonado and Eulogio Reguillo.

PERFECT ACCOMMODATION FOR FAMILIES WITH CHILDREN

The variety and quality of hotel accommodation in Spain means that you'll always find something suitable for families. Come and have a really entertaining holiday with us.

You can stay in hotels which provide a really wide selection of activities, as well as facilities for children and personalised services. Theme parties, pools of all shapes and sizes and shows for children for you to enjoy a memorable holiday.

A country house is a fantastic option for enjoying nature with your family. These are often older buildings (farmsteads, mansions, farm houses, farm workers' cottages and mills) which have been refurbished as tourist accommodation with all modern comforts. There you can sleep in incredible natural surroundings and enjoy first-class cuisine. Many of them have their own children's play parks and organise numerous activities for all ages, like walks and excursions by bicycle or on horseback. They are usually located in small towns and villages or outside the built-up areas of the larger cities.
