GRANADA

Spain is the perfect destination for enjoying culture. Come and discover it.
CITIES

Spain is home to a vast cultural heritage. Discover it by visiting our cities and unique destinations.

MADRID

Come and browse Madrid's different neighbourhoods – you’ll see how intercultural the city is. Discover the Las Letras neighbourhood, once home to great writers of the Golden Age of Spanish literature. If you want to see where the aristocracy lived in the 19th and 20th centuries, head for Chamberi. In the quarter known as Madrid de los Austrias you’ll see the spectacular Royal Palace and the Almudena Cathedral. Another idea is to spend some time in Lavapiés, a melting pot of different cultures and traditions, and Chueca, the capital's gay-friendly neighbourhood par excellence.

Spend some time in its museums: in Madrid you’ll find some of the best – not only in Spain, but the whole world. In addition to art galleries like the Thyssen-Bornemisza, the Reina Sofia and the Sorolla museums, there are several themed exhibition spaces like the Museum of the Americas, the Railway Museum and the Lope de Vega Museum. Good places to mingle with local residents are the art and culture centres like the Matadero and La Tabacalera. If you’re visiting with children, two fun options are the Madrid Planetarium and the Natural Science Museum.

And what about a night out at the cinema or theatre? You’ll always find several versions of Broadway musicals playing in town.

Near the city you can continue discovering marvels. In Aranjuez you can visit the Royal Palace and wander through its lovely gardens. Another recommended visit is to the monastery of San Lorenzo de el Escorial in the mountains to the west of Madrid.
BARCELONA

Its urban layout contains Roman remains, mediaeval neighbourhoods and some fine examples of the 20th-century avant-garde movements.

The capital of Catalonia is the epitome of the modernist city. Here you can see some of the greatest architectural achievements of Antoni Gaudí, like the Sagrada Familia, a universal symbol of the city. Climb its towers to see Barcelona from the heights. In the centre of the Eixample, in the Passeig de Gracia, you’ll see the surprising Casa Milà, known as “La Pedrera”, a building whose every line is undulating; the Casa Batlló, with its unusual and colourful facade; and the Casa Vicens, clad in spectacular green and white tiles.
Wander around the Güell Park, another wonderful place to enjoy Gaudí’s interplay of nature and architecture.

But on your route you’ll see much more than works by Gaudí. You’ll marvel at the Modernist ensemble of Sant Pau and the Palau de la Música by the architect Lluís Domènech i Montaner.

Barcelona is home to large and small museums waiting to be discovered, such as the National Art Museum of Catalonia and the Dalí House Museum. You’ll find interesting exhibitions, workshops and activities in cultural centres like the CaixaForum.

Travel just a few kilometres outside the capital to find other fascinating cities. In Girona, for example, you’ll see over 2,000 years of history in its two fortified enclosures: the Força Vella and the mediaeval extension. In La Garrotxa you’ll find attractive natural landscapes and mediaeval villages. The Seu d’Urgell in Lleida will surprise you with its attractive historic centre and its Romanesque cathedral. The Roman legacy also awaits you in Tarragona, the site of the first Roman military foundation outside the Italian peninsula. Its circus and amphitheatre are two examples of its valuable monumental heritage.
VALENCIA

You'll find traces of the remote past in the old town centre and be amazed by its avant-garde buildings.

Take a visit to the Silk Exchange, in the heart of the historic centre, one of the loveliest Gothic-style civil buildings in Europe. Make sure your visit includes the Palau de la Generalitat, the Palau de la Música auditorium and the Valencia Institute of Modern Art (IVAM).

The City of Arts and Sciences is one of the largest scientific and cultural complexes in Europe. You'll be fascinated by the avant-garde design of its buildings such as L’Hemisfèric, a screening room in the shape of an eye, and L’Oceanogràfic, the largest aquarium in Europe.

From Valencia you can easily reach other charming places such as Buñol, Requena, Xàtiva and Sagunto, with its Roman theatre.
Discover Seville, a city steeped in history. You’ll marvel at its cathedral, once a great mosque. Climb up to its minaret, La Giralda, and you’ll be treated to some unforgettable views of the city. Wander around the Plaza de España square, the Real Alcázar Palace in Seville and the María Luisa Park. And if you really want to experience its culture in depth, you’ll find great works of classical and avant-garde art at the Museum of Fine Arts and the Andalusia Contemporary Art Centre.

To witness the profound devotion and folklore of Seville, the best time to visit is in Easter Week to see the passion and solemnity of its processions, or during the April Fair, when you can enjoy music, food and dancing in its marquees.

Some destinations we can recommend on your route near Seville include Carmona, Osuna and Écija. Another destination you can’t afford to miss is Córdoba, where you can walk around its picturesque historic quarter and visit its greatest treasure, the Great Mosque, one of the towering examples of Muslim art. Cádiz invites you to enjoy its carnival and stroll around its wonderful old city, a maze of narrow alleyways and tiny squares set in ancient neighbourhoods.
GRANADA

An ancient citadel, fortress and the place of residence of the Nasrid sultans, the Alhambra is Granada’s supreme cultural treasure. You can tour its magical palaces and gardens like the ones in the Generalife, with its lovely fountains and pools.

And you can wind up your tour at Granada Cathedral, the La Cartuja monastery and the Science Museum Park.

Another place to visit near Granada is Málaga, the birthplace of Pablo Picasso. In the museum that bears his name you can learn more about the life and work of this brilliant painter. This bright and lively city is full of charming sites like the Alcazaba fortress and the Gibralfaro castle with its fabulous views.

You can take a stroll around a city that seems to have come straight out of the Tales from the Thousand and One Nights: Almost eight centuries of Arab presence have left a rich legacy from the time of Al Andalús.
BILBAO

If you want to see an example of urban transformation, this is the city to visit. The greatest exponent of its renewal is the Guggenheim Museum, a spectacular titanium building designed by the architect Frank Gehry.

You can also visit other buildings in this architectural treasure trove, like the Conference Centre, Santiago Cathedral, the Euskalduna Auditorium and the metro, designed by Norman Foster.

If you want to make the most of your visit to northern Spain, very close to Bilbao you’ll find the beautiful cultural cities of San Sebastián, Santander and Vitoria.
Immerse yourself in culture in Salamanca. Discover the oldest university in Spain and the third oldest in Europe. Its impressive buildings are in the Renaissance style. You can take a leisurely walk around the old town and explore its magnificent monuments with their historic legacy.

Visitors won’t want to miss its cathedrals, the Casa de las Conchas, the Clerecy, the Las Dueñas convent and the Plaza Mayor square.

Just a few kilometres outside Salamanca you’ll come to Avila and Segovia; Valladolid, with its lovely Renaissance quarter; and Zamora, home to an important Romanesque legacy.
SANTIAGO DE COMPOSTELA

Discover the cultural treasures of the capital of Galicia, a cosmopolitan and multicultural city. Its historic centre is one of the loveliest in Spain and has been designated a World Heritage city by the UNESCO.

The cathedral of Santiago de Compostela is the finest example of Romanesque art in Spain and the ultimate destination on the Way of Saint James, a pilgrim route travelled every year by thousands of people from all corners of the world.

Wander around its historic quarter. The collegiate church of Santa María la Real del Sar, the Museum of the Galician People, the Hostal de los Reyes Católicos (today converted into a Parador hotel), the Casa do Cabildo and the Galician Contemporary Art Centre (GAC) are all well worth a visit.

TOLEDO

Discover the legacy of the Christian, Arab and Jewish cultures in one of the Spanish cities with the greatest profusion of monuments. A visit to the historic quarter of Toledo is like walking through an open-air museum with a range of different artistic styles. Churches, mosques and synagogues rub shoulders with palaces and fortresses. Here you can visit the El Greco Museum and marvel at some of the artist’s greatest works. You’ll also find works by the great painter in the Cathedral Museum.

Near Toledo there are other towns and villages with valuable monuments such as Talavera de la Reina, Ocaña and Oropesa.
MUSEUMS

In Spain you'll find one of the most extensive offers of museums in the world: there are over 1,500 museums and museographic collections. Here are just a few of the most important.

PRADO MUSEUM (MADRID)

This is the busiest in Spain, receiving almost three million visitors a year and one of the most important art galleries in the world. It contains the most extensive collection of Spanish painting anywhere, as well as major collections of European art.

REINA SOFÍA NATIONAL ART MUSEUM (MADRID)

One of the largest museums in Europe, with a magnificent collection of contemporary art. The jewel in the museum’s crown is the Guernica by Pablo Picasso, one of the icons of modern art and of Spanish history. You’ll be captivated by its collection of paintings featuring works by artists such as Miró, Dalí, Tàpies, Juan Gris, René Magritte and Chillida.

THYSSEN-BORNEMISZA MUSEUM (MADRID)

Take a trip through Western painting from the 13th century to the most important 19th- and 20th-century movements. On its walls hang paintings by Titian, Rubens, Rembrandt, Caravaggio, Cézanne, Manet, Van Gogh, Picasso, Klee and Kandinsky.
GUGGENHEIM MUSEUM (BILBAO)

The building’s avant-garde architecture is a magnificent setting for contemplating a collection of key works of contemporary art. Here you’ll find artists of the stature of Mark Rothko, Jorge Oteiza, Ives Klein and Jacques Lipchitz, to name just a few.

DALÍ THEATRE-MUSEUM (GIRONA)

Discover the surprising life and times of Salvador Dalí in the lovely coastal city of Figueres and the town of his birth. You’ll have a chance to see his works from his beginnings as an artist until the time he became one of the foremost representatives of Surrealism.
ALTAMIRA NATIONAL MUSEUM AND RESEARCH CENTRE (CANTABRIA)

Discover the jewel in the crown of Spanish cave art. The paintings in the Altamira cave are 18,000 years old. You’ll be able to see an exact replica of the most important parts of the cave, as access to the original is restricted for conservation reasons.

NATIONAL MUSEUM OF ROMAN ART IN MÉRIDA (BADAJOZ)

NATIONAL UNDERWATER ARCHAEOLOGY MUSEUM (MURCIA)

Would you like to see a collection of objects found at various underwater sites, including amphorae, platters, mallets and amulets?

Some of the highlights on display in the museum are a series of elephant tusks with Phoenician inscriptions, the only ones of their kind in the world.

These are some of the most famous, but there are many more. Other museums well worth visiting include the Lázarro Galdiano and the Sorolla museums in Madrid; the IVAM and the Príncipe Felipe Science Museum in Valencia; the MACBA and the Joan Miró Foundation in Barcelona; and the Museum of Fine Arts in Seville.

PICASSO MUSEUM (MÁLAGA)

This museum was set up in response to the artist's wish that his work should be present in Málaga, the city of his birth. Here you can see the permanent collection of 200 works signed by the artist.
CONTEMPORARY ARCHITECTURE

You'll find the avant-garde architecture in Spain truly surprising. Famous architects such as Frank Gehry, Renzo Piano, Jürgen Mayer and Santiago Calatrava have all chosen this country as a showcase for their work.

The Guggenheim Museum in Bilbao, designed by the American architect Frank Gehry, is a distinctive symbol of the city. You'll be amazed by the colour transitions as the natural light falls on the titanium facade, and its reflection in the estuary. One interesting fact about its design: you won't find a single flat surface. On the outside, you'll be greeted by Jeff Koons' floral sculpture entitled Puppy.

The majestic City of Wine, by the same architect, can be seen in Elciego (Álava). This complex encompasses a winery over 150 years old and an avant-garde building that appears to rise out of the ground like a vine to merge with the landscape. During your visit you can enjoy a wine tasting and even spend the night, as it houses a hotel and two restaurants, a wine therapy spa and a conference centre.

The Castile-Leon Museum of Contemporary Art (MUSAC) is one of the main attractions in the city of León. This original space in the shape of a cube won the Mies van der Rohe architecture prize in 2007. One of its most spectacular features is its multicoloured glass facade, a reference to the stained-glass windows in León cathedral.

In the Plaza de la Encarnación square in Seville you'll find the “Seville Mushrooms” (or Metropol Parasol) by the German architect Jürgen Mayer. This is the largest wooden structure in the world, and its five tiers contain the Antiquarium, a produce market and a raised square that serves as a venue for different events. Its walkway-viewing platform offers amazing views over the city.

Would you like to see a building located on a platform overhanging the sea? You'll find it in Santander Bay, and it's the work of the Italian architect and Pritzker prizewinner Renzo Piano. The Botín Centre operates as a cultural space: go up to the roof for some unique views over the city.
WORLD HERITAGE

Spain is home to a priceless cultural heritage. Proof of this is the fact that Spain is one of the countries with the most World Heritage sites on the planet. In addition to Santiago de Compostela, Toledo and Tarragona... We’ll take you on a tour of some of the most outstanding.
DISCOVER SPAIN'S
WORLD HERITAGE CITIES

If you’re interested in Spain as a cultural destination, then the best option is to explore its World Heritage Cities. They are of immense architectural, artistic and cultural value. Whichever destination you choose, you can’t go wrong.

ALCALÁ DE HENARES
This is the birthplace of Cervantes, the author of Don Quixote, where visits include the writer’s house, Europe’s oldest open-air theatre, and the origins of the Complutense university.

AVILA
Sights not to miss are the spectacular mediaeval city walls dating from the 12th century and several valuable churches and Renaissance palaces.

BAEZA
Discover all the monuments in this fine example of civil architecture and of Renaissance and urban design in 16th-century Spain.

CÁCERES
Wander around this enchanting city and you'll see the imprint left by many different civilisations.

CÓRDOBA
This is the place to see the Great Mosque of Córdoba and the historic centre, one of the finest examples of the legacy of Al Andalús.

CUENCA
Its fortified historic centre and its unusual “hanging houses” perched on the cliff blend seamlessly with the natural surroundings.
MÉRIDA
Discover a city that flourished during the Roman Empire, where you can walk amid numerous archaeological remains, especially including its majestic theatre, amphitheatre, and Roman circus.

SALAMANCA
Stroll around this Spanish Renaissance city par excellence. When you see the richness of its historic heritage, you'll understand why it was declared European City of Culture in 2002.

SAN CRISTÓBAL DE LA LAGUNA
The streets in this picturesque city on the island of Tenerife in the Canary Islands will take you back to the past. Its model colonial layout includes an imposing cathedral and a multitude of stately homes from the 17th and 18th centuries.
SEGÖVIA
Wander through the alleyways in its old town and discover its famous Roman aqueduct, one of the best conserved in Europe. Other sites not to miss are the cathedral and the imposing Alcázar fortress.

ÚBEDA
The town is home to one of the most sensational Renaissance sites in Europe. Take your time to explore all its palaces and towers.

IBIZA
The old part of the Balearic city of Ibiza, known as Dalt Vila, has been designated a World Heritage Site by the UNESCO. You can walk along the Renaissance walls that encircle it, whose original purpose was to defend it from attack by the Turks in the 16th century.
MONUMENTS AND SITES WITH THE WORLD HERITAGE DESIGNATION

Here you’ll find a full range of options: everything from civil buildings such as the architectural site of Mérida, through to religious monuments like Burgos Cathedral and the Basilica of Nuestra Señora del Pilar in Zaragoza.

Would you like to travel back in time? Come and see the lovely Suso Monastery in San Millán de la Cogolla (La Rioja), inside whose walls some anonymous monk penned the first words in Spanish. Or travel back to prehistoric times in places like the Atapuerca site (Burgos). You have so much to choose from.

You can visit the Alfajería Palace, a treasure from the Arab era in the heart of Zaragoza; the cathedral, the Alcázar and the Archive of the Indies in Seville; the Mudéjar architecture of Aragon; and the Roman walls in Lugo. The possibilities are endless.
FESTIVITIES AND CULTURAL TRADITIONS

In Spain you’ll find popular festivities at any time of the year. Some, like the Sanfermines bull-running festival, are famous all over the world. You can also discover unique traditions such as flamenco or tapas by experiencing them at first hand. Come and enjoy Spain by taking part in its fiestas.

FESTIVITIES OF INTERNATIONAL TOURIST INTEREST

Spain has over 30 festivities that have been declared to be of international tourist interest. Which one will you choose? Here are some tips to help you decide.

CARNIVAL

In February the streets in Spain are filled with colour and high spirits: it’s carnival time! Come to the carnival in Santa Cruz de Tenerife, one of the most famous of all. The spectacular costumes on display at the gala for choosing the carnival queen will take your breath away. The carnival in Cádiz is a chance to have fun with its “comparsas”, “coros” and “chirigotas” (sarcastic and critical songs and ditties sung by various musical bands). In the region of Murcia you’ll find the Águilas carnival with its traditional tossing of eggshells (eggs filled mostly with confetti), and “cuerva”, a drink that awakens the spirit of carnival.

LAS FALLAS BONFIRE FESTIVAL

Come and join in with the fun and high spirits you’ll find in March in Valencia’s most important festivity: the Las Fallas bonfire festival. Around 800 allegorical plywood and papier mâché structures go on display in the streets of the city, and are then set on fire. The smell of gunpowder, the music bands and the parades with everyone wearing regional dress guarantee a great atmosphere during the celebrations.
EASTER WEEK

The arrival of spring coincides with Easter Week, one of the most ancient and spectacular events in Spain, a combination of religious fervour, tradition and art. Wherever you choose to experience it, you're sure to find it very moving. One of the best-known Easter Week commemorations can be seen in Seville. Its famous “Madrugá” is a passionate procession of carved images like Jesús del Gran Poder borne aloft through the streets of Seville.

Notable examples in the Castile-León Region include the Easter Week commemorations in Avila, León, Medina del Campo, Medina de Rioseco, Palencia, Salamanca, Valladolid and Zamora. One common feature is the artistic worth of their carved figures. Another singularly beautiful event is the Palm Sunday procession in Elche (Alicante) where thousands of people carry palm fronds plaited into attractive shapes.

APRIL FAIR

Seville in April is synonymous with fun at any time of the day. Its fairground and its marquees fill with music, laughter, food, and glasses of dry sherry or “rebujito” (manzanilla wine with fizzy lemonade). Don't go without trying the typical “pescáito frito” (fried fish platter) or the delicious fried doughnuts known as “buñuelos”, and make sure to see the spectacular parade of horsemen and women and horse-drawn carriages.

SANFERMINES BULL-RUNNING FESTIVAL

From 6 to 14 July, Pamplona becomes one continuous festivity, where the protagonist is unquestionably the bull. The danger and excitement of the bull-running goes hand-in-hand with the high spirits and fun to be found in the streets at all hours of the day and night. Drinking, dancing, street parties and open-air concerts, parades, fireworks and much more. There’s guaranteed fun for all.

LA TOMATINA FESTIVAL

This fun “battle” of tomatoes takes place in the town of Buñol in Valencia. Come and take part in this fun-filled free-for-all held on the last Wednesday of August.
CULTURAL TRADITIONS

In addition to these activities, Spain is home to some age-old cultural traditions:

FLAMENCO

Come and visit a “tablao” or flamenco club: you’re sure to be captivated by the show. You’ll thrill to the throaty voices of the flamenco singers accompanied by the sound of the guitar and clapping. The footwork known as the zapateo and the dancing are guaranteed to make an impression. Experience the characteristic passion of this traditional and popular form of artistic expression, declared a part of Spain’s intangible world heritage.

THE CASTELLS

You’ll be amazed to see how these impressive human towers rise high in the sky, some with as many as six to ten tiers. This typical Catalan cultural tradition is over 200 years old and is passed on from one generation to the next.

TAPAS

Take up a healthy Spanish custom: going out for tapas. It’s an ideal way to experience Spanish culture and savour the best of popular cuisine in miniature portions. In every town and city in Spain there are bars specialising in tapas. You can try everything from the unbeatable acorn-fed ibérico ham and the traditional potato omelette, through to dishes from haute cuisine.
THEATRE

Take a seat in a Roman theatre and enjoy a spectacular setting under the stars at the Mérida Classical Theatre Festival, the oldest in Spain and the most important of its kind. It takes place in July and August. Another summer event not to be missed is the Almagro International Classical Theatre Festival, dedicated to 16th- and 17th-century theatre. It takes place in July in this historic city in La Mancha.

MUSIC

Are you a jazz lover? Come in November and visit one of the oldest festivals in Europe: the Granada International Jazz Festival. Or is your thing more pop, rock, indie or electronic? Then come to the largest international festival in Spain, the FIB in Benicàssim in Castellón. This is a chance to enjoy great music outdoors, as it takes place in July.

If you’re keen on international pop and rock, the best idea is to visit Bilbao in the first fortnight of July and take part in Bilbao BBK Live. Also during this month you can take a journey to Ortigueira Festival in A Coruña, where the genuine sounds of the Celtic music are played.

FILM

Enjoy the seventh art and all the accompanying glamour at the San Sebastián International Film Festival, one of the most prestigious in Europe. Legendary stars like Audrey Hepburn have walked its red carpet.

To really immerse yourself in Spanish film, the best idea is to travel to southern Spain in April or May for the Málaga Festival. And if you’re a fan of fantasy, you’ll love the Sitges International Fantastic Film Festival.
CULTURAL ROUTES

THE SILVER ROUTE

Pull on some sturdy boots and set out on this route that links the north and south of Spain and follows in the footsteps of the Roman troops of old. If you prefer, you can do it by bike or on a motorbike.

The route joins Seville with Gijón: on your way you'll pass through a number of historical sites such as Mérida, Cáceres, Béjar and León.
THE WAY OF SAINT JAMES

Travelling the Way of Saint James is a thrilling and unforgettable adventure. This is a different way to discover northern Spain by taking one of several itineraries whose ultimate destination is the cathedral in Santiago de Compostela in Galicia, the site of the tomb of Saint James the Apostle.

To obtain the Compostela, the document awarded to everyone who has travelled the Camino for religious or spiritual reasons, you'll need to do a minimum of 100 kilometres on foot or on horseback and 200 by bike.

ROUTE OF DON QUIXOTE

Would you like to follow the route of the main character in the famous novel by Cervantes, Don Quixote? It will take you through ancient villages, along historic trails, past the famous windmills, and through the natural spaces described in the book.

Some of the points of interest on the route include Toledo, Campo de Criptana, El Toboso, Almagro, Campo de Calatrava and Argamasilla de Alba.
Spain is a film destination, and in many cities you’ll find itineraries related to the seventh art. To discover these locations, the best idea is to sign up for a guided visit.

In the desert of Almería, the setting for a multitude of Westerns, you can follow the footsteps of Clint Eastwood (and visit the old film studios). Two major super-productions have also been filmed in its Alcazaba fortress: Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade and Never say never again.

If you’re a film buff you have to go to Seville: princess Amidala walked through its Plaza de España square in Star Wars. Its Alcázar fortress and the ruins of Itálica were the locations chosen for key scenes at the climax of Game of Thrones. The hit series has been filmed in location in a number of places in Spain, like Girona, Almería, Peñíscola and Las Bardenas Reales in Navarre.

In Castile-La Mancha you can follow a route dedicated exclusively to the Spanish filmmaker Pedro Almodóvar. If you’d like to discover some beautiful natural landscapes that have been used as film sets, you can take the Llanes de Cine route in Asturias, or set out on the Ruta del Cine route in Comillas in Cantabria.

The desert and lunar landscapes of Fuerteventura (Canary Islands) have been the setting for films such as Exodus by Ridley Scott and Allied by Robert Zemeckis. And the south of the island was chosen by the Star Wars team to shoot some of the new episodes in the saga.
Parador hotels are much more than just accommodation. They are a different way of experiencing the magic of Spain. These are distinctive establishments located in natural or historic sites of outstanding beauty. Many of them are veritable architectural treasures, including former castles, palaces, monasteries and convents. Others were built more recently. In all of them you’ll find quality, comfort and personalised service.

There are currently over 90 Parador hotels in Spain. If you like the idea of experiencing history up close, this is the option for you. Find the one for you at www.parador.es.
Spain is a country full of treasures and secrets. Here are 10 cultural gems that are waiting for you to discover them.

FUENTE DEL REY FOUNTAIN IN PRIEGO DE CÓRDOBA

INFANTADO PALACE IN GUADALAJARA

Visit the former residence of the Dukes of Mendoza. Construction began in the mid-15th century in the Gothic style and it was adapted one century later to conform to Renaissance tastes. You’ll notice numerous Mudéjar details.

PALENCIA CATHEDRAL

They call it “the undiscovered beauty”. Notice its exterior in the flamboyant Gothic style, and on the interior you’ll see Isabelline, Plateresque and Renaissance elements.

ZENARRUZA MONASTERY IN VIZCAYA

This national monument in Euskadi was a key stopping point on the Way of Saint James during the Middle Ages. Highlights include its 15th century church in the Renaissance Gothic style and its lovely cloister.

ALCÁZAR DE LA PUERTA DE SEVILLA IN CARMONA

Discover this structure begun by the Carthaginians in the 9th century B.C. and continued by the Romans. Its numerous treasures include the keep, the Torre del Oro tower and the Courtyard of the Cisterns.

ZAMORA CATHEDRAL

If you want to learn more about Romanesque architecture in Spain, this is one of the finest examples. You’ll find numerous works of art awaiting you on its interior.
CHURCH OF SAN CLEMENTE DE TAÜLL IN LLEIDA

This impressive church was built between the 11th and 12th centuries. It is one of a series of Romanesque churches in the Vall de Boí valley with the UNESCO World Heritage designation.

ASTORGA EPISCOPAL PALACE IN LEON

You’ll think you’re looking at a fairytale castle, with its battlements, peepholes and even a moat around the whole monument. This modernist building in the neo-Gothic style was designed by the architectural genius Gaudí and currently houses the Los Caminos Museum.

CISTERCIAN ABBEY IN CAÑAS IN LA RIOJA

Come and see one of the first abbeys to be founded in Spain and its delightful Gothic church. The convent has been inhabited since 1170 by enclosed nuns.

CLOISTER IN SAN JUAN DE DUERO IN SORIA

Discover this example of mediaeval Christian architecture. Its arches reveal the different architectural tendencies that could be seen in Spain at that time: Romanesque, Gothic and Muslim.
