Spain receives millions of visitors every year attracted by the character of a country which has been forged by the multiple cultures that have lived there and which has been the birthplace of many renowned people throughout history. Every corner of the country exudes art: its streets, squares and monuments as well as its buildings, museums, castles and churches. You can gaze at Gaudi's mark in Barcelona and at the Habsburgs' in Madrid, the hanging houses in Cuenca, the Mudejar art in Aragon, the Aqueduct in Segovia, the flower patios in Cordoba and the Royal Alcazar in Seville. You will discover enchanting places that will make your Avexperience a magical experience.

TASTY SPAIN

Healthy and delicious. Spanish cuisine is one of the main treasures of this country. A prime example of this is that the Mediterranean diet has been declared Intangible Cultural Heritage. It comprises virgin olive oil, fresh fruit and vegetables, cereals, varied cheeses and top quality meat and fish. Nevertheless, the Mediterranean diet is much more than just food. It is also synonymous both with culture, since it is handed down from one generation to the next, and with social interaction: in Spain, a good lunch or dinner must necessarily be followed by a long and interesting conversation. Avexperience invites you to see why Spanish cuisine is renowned worldwide.

WHERE WINE IS CULTURE

For Spaniards, wine is both culture and devotion. The soil, the climate, the large variety of grapes and the wine-making techniques make Spain one of the largest wine producers in the world. There are dozens of Designations of Origin that guarantee high-quality wines and satisfy the most discerning palates. The main Designations of Origin that we recommend are Ribera del Duero, Toro, Valdepeñas, Jumilla, Penedés and Costers del Segre. Wine is closely linked to leisure in a country where drinking wine implies expanding your mind and leaving your routine behind. Avexperience takes you to the wine routes: enjoy them using your five senses.
